It takes many different people to make up the world.
It takes many different people to make up my world.

I strive for perfection,
and I obtain success!

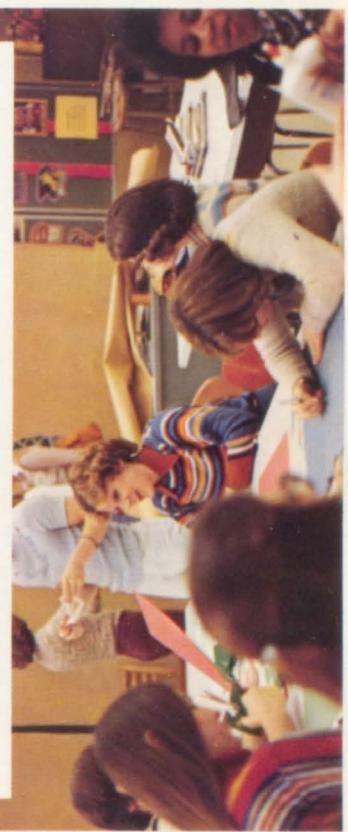

I didn't want the world to pass me by,
So I took hold and tagged along.

People seem to think that I'm just one of the crowd, They forget that I'm different—that I'm ME!

I remember the past,
Live the present,
And look to the future.

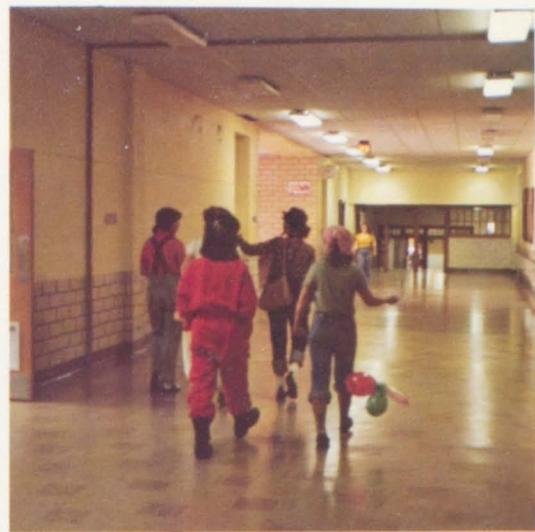

My friends live only for today,
and they never even take a look at tomorrow.

Don't walk in front of me—I may not follow,

Don't walk behind me—I may not lead,

Walk beside me—And just be my friend.

***** With temperatures way below zero, the winter of '77 will not easily be forgotten. Practically over all of the country, people felt Mother Nature's chilling winds and frosty snow. Due to the lack of energy to heat buildings, many factories and stores were closed. President Carter announced twice on national television to cut down on the energy consumption. Lew Wallace was closed to help do our part in conserving fuel. The all-city strike by the janitors and secretaries also added to fewer days attended by students.

1. "Gentlemen, start your engines!" That sounds easy enough, but with this much ice and snow, it became quite a tricky task. 2. Winter can seem very lonely at times. 3. A hazy January day's sun sets and Lew Wallace ends another school day. 4. When all else fails, get walking. With our snowfall, be careful not to sink. 5. Learning and knowledge are not only gathered from books. At Lew Wallace, we were able to present many assemblies which added to our learning and knowledge of many other cultures, lifestyles, and the arts. Last year our assemblies ranged from symphonies to jazz, kung fu to dances, drama to comedy. Some of the other assemblies were more school sponsored in theme, such as Cultural Week, pep rallies and Student Council installation to name a few.

Though some were more for our enjoyment, all were mainly presented to enlighten our thinking and broaden our own awareness.

1. The All City Orchestra provided us with some melodious sounds. 2. Mr. Christoff conveys the school's congratulations to the gridmen for capturing the conference crown. 3. The Air Force Rock Band, Mach One, performed for the student body many good rock tunes. 4. A Kung Fu demonstration was given by the Cobra Kai Club. 5. In her speech for Student Council installation Sophomore President Kathy McDonald urges more interest and spirit in our school. 6. The Johntue Dance Company gave a modern dance performance.

Spirit: How 'Bout You?

Taking pride in your class and showing your spirit is what Spirit Week is all about. Celebrated the week of February 14-18, Spirit Week 1977 displayed the talent and enthusiasm of students and teachers alike.

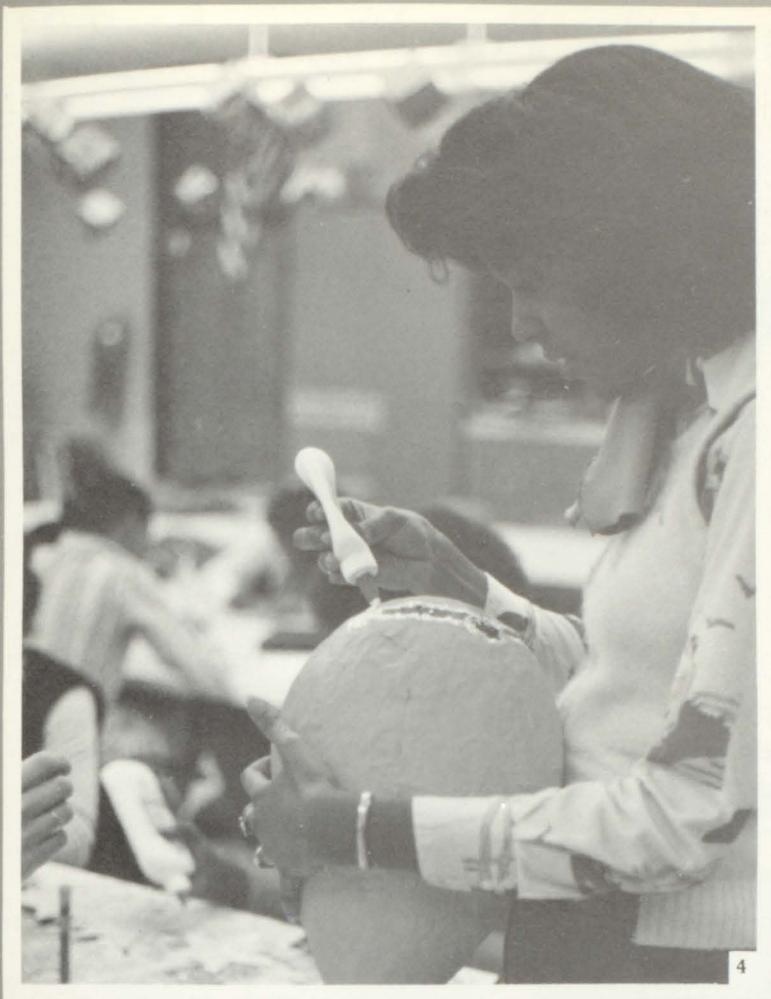

The Freshman class started the week off with their decorated hall. The theme, "Spring Is In The Air" sparked warm weather clothes, baseballs and tennis racquets. On Tuesday, the Sophomore class brought us their "Sophomore Circus." Lions, clowns and other circus sights could be seen walking around Wallace that day. "That Was Then, This Is Now," was the Junior class theme.

The Juniors featured murals of major public figures and events of the 40's, 50's, 60's and today. The Class of 1977 won the hall competition with the theme, "Senior Space Odyssey." There was a variety of strange looking creatures from every planet in the Universe. The Seniors really ended their four years with a spectacular finale. On Friday, the Lew Wallace Olympics was presented seventh hour. Tug of war and wheel barrow races were just two of the many fantastic events held. All in all Spirit Week provided a needed valve to let out our built up tensions.

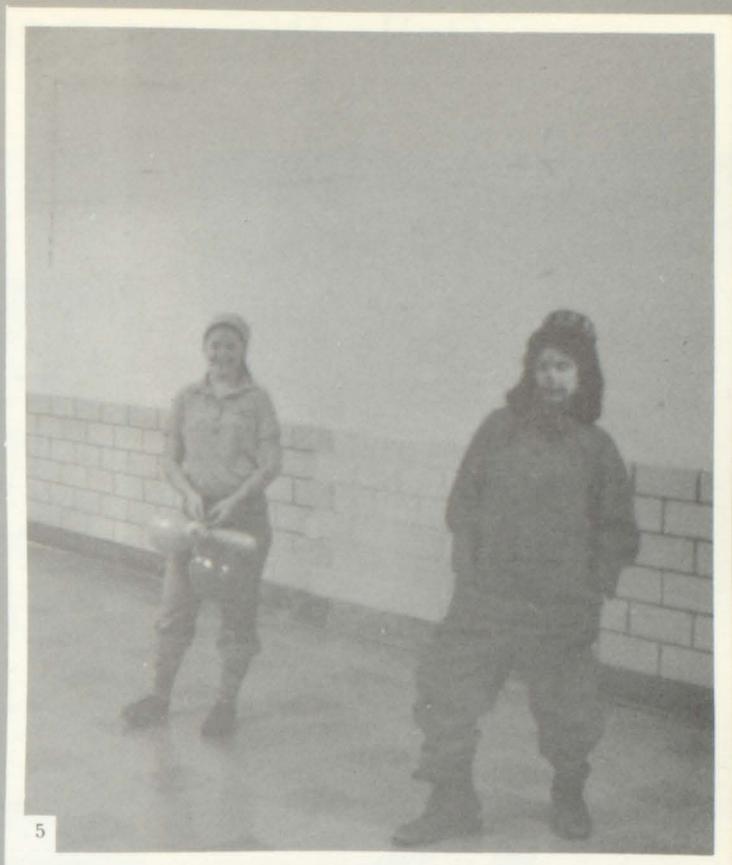

1. On your mark, get set, walk! Participants in the Olympics prepare for the wheel barrow competition. 2. The Class of '78 worked hard on their hall with the theme, "That Was Then, This Is Now." 3. Two teams of Freshmen pull with all their might in the tug of war contest. 4. Senior Katie Agee puts the finishing touches on a creation for the class hall.

After 3:30 there's no telling where Wallace students are headed. Maybe a trip out on Route 30 to the Mall or skating at the Rink. You may even spot Wallace kids at Stardust Bowl working on their 300 game or avoiding scratching at the pool tables. Don't forget all the many working kids whose jobs are in the Glen Park and Merrillville vicinity. There are a few students who participate in outside sports such as hockey and soccer. After all the activities though, Mac's and Arby's are THE places where the student body celebrates wins, losses and anything they can think of.

The week of March 14th through 18th was dedicated to the annual Cultural Celebration here at Lew Wallace. Under the guidance of Mr. Sam Pollak, committees worked to unify the school. The Honor Society worked to schedule speakers who came to inform classes of their own experiences with other lands and peoples. In addition to their oral reports, speakers brought films, filmstrips, and records to complete their lectures.

On Friday, the staff was treated to a luncheon of multi-ethnic dishes and pastries by the Russian Club. As a finale, the entire student body was invited to a two hour program which was under the sponsorship of Mr. Anthony Valle and the Ethnic Club. Songs and dances, both traditional and modern, were performed for the benefit of Wallacites' cultural awareness. Greek, Russian, Macedonian, Polish, African, Puerto Rican, and Mexican cultural groups all danced before the student body and invited parents and School City guests.

1. Three Greek students perform their ethnic dance.
2. A group of Macedonians show off their culture's dance.
3. Polish girls reel to the sound of their folk music.
4. Students dance to the beat of African drums.
5. Two Mexican girls stamp to the beat of Mexican music.
6. An African maiden awaits sacrifice.
7. Serbian girls perform Ribbon Dance.
8. Mrs. Lisek sings a Polish song.
9. Rounding the gym the Greek Dancers perform another dance.

Jams Let Your Rock 'n Roll All Night

Getting up early just to wait in line for 2-3 hours for a crack at tickets of upcoming concerts, was an action done by many Wallace students.

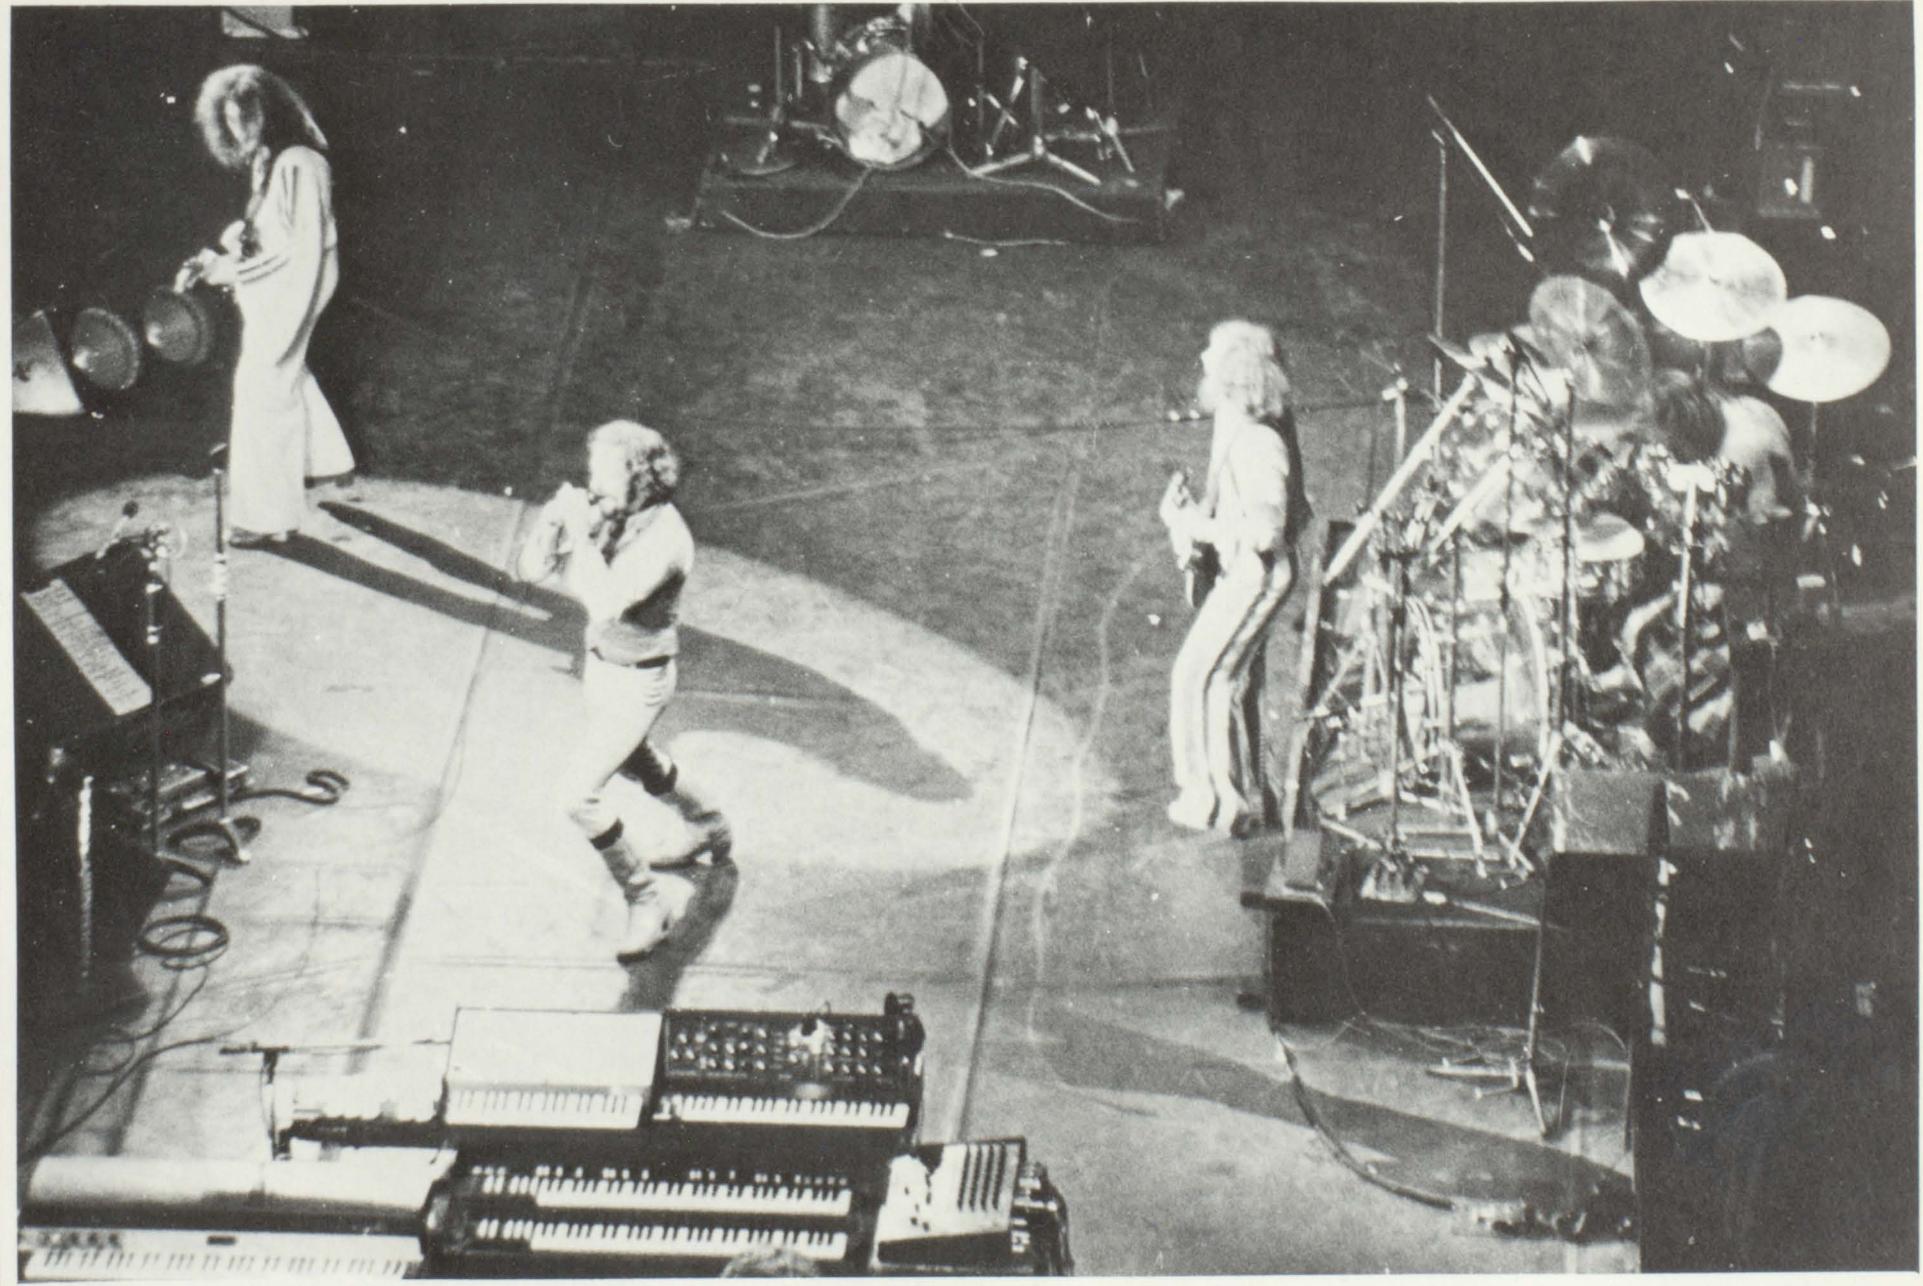

The Windy City of Chicago played host to many big name groups this year. As the lights dimmed at the start of each concert, screams and applause brought out many groups, such as the Eagles, Queen, Frampton, and many others.

Also this year came the Super Bowl of Rock. Held at Soldier Field in Chicago, concert-goers saw E L P, Foghat, in Game One. Game Two featured an evening with Pink Floyd. During the summer many other concerts were held.

If you couldn't get to a concert, students went to record stores to get the hottest sounds of the hottest groups.

1. Led Zeppelin beats out another hard rocking, foot stomping song for an eager, rock loving Chicago audience. 2. The Spring Band Concert, under the direction of Mr. Paul Chilson, perform songs for selected 7th hour classes. 3. Jethro Tull jams out another song for screaming fans in the packed Chicago Stadium.

1. Farrah Fawcett's overnight success was considered one of the biggest fads of the year by fans and critics alike. 2. Zottting is one student interest administrators would be happy to see permanently old fashion. 3. The "Fonz" Henry Winkler gained even more popularity by being on T-shirts, posters and buttons. 4. Luckily for Lew Wallace, certain fads don't catch on as cheerleaders

Virgil Strauss, Joe Olah and Tony Corona discovered at the Donkey Basketball Game. 5. Roberta Kaplan and Katie Agee wear the multicolored sweaters which were quite popular. 6. Overalls, as worn by Larry Osika are a must in anyone's wardrobe. 7. This senior models the classic blue jeans. 8. The average up-to-the-minute fashion queen and king.

Fads and Fashion Betray Insanity and Distinction

Two of the most changeable reflections of our society are fads and fashions. Each represent and affect our lifestyle today as in the past. For example, in the sixties, having a Beatle haircut or owning a mini skirt was THE thing. Though our tastes in music, fashion and entertainment change, there are always certain types of clothing and other popular items labeled as "fashionable" or "faddish." In 1977 some of the most fashionable attire included painter's pants, boots, gaucho pants, Indian sweaters and, of course, jeans. Fads included CB radios, Farrah Fawcett, disaster films, flower chokers and Bubble Yum. Here today and maybe, gone tomorrow, these current topics are always some of the craziest but greatly treasured memories we have.

Two Years Later: Are Times Really Changing?

A little more than two years ago, Lew Wallace was involved in one of the worst battles in her history. February 7, 1975 and the days following are ones that shall stand out in the minds of those students, faculty and administrators who experienced the upsets which followed. For those who may question what this "battle" was about, the name Muhammed Ali should clear up the confusion. The assembly in which Ali students and parents were formed to look into the situation.

Though sufficient time has passed, have the wounds healed? Many upperclassmen feel not. Junior Mark Smolinski believes, "There are less racial fights than there were those few weeks. It seems that since then Blacks and Whites keep their distance from one another." One Senior feels that the school recognizes Blacks more; the only trouble is that the two races can't jointly involve themselves without hostile feelings.

But what can be said now for those freshmen and sophomores who only heard stories of the great turmoil?

Some sophomores admit that it was more frightening in the tales than in reality. But as one Sophomore pointed out, "It's pretty obvious that the back entrances (facing 47th Avenue) are dominated by whites. As a result, Blacks control 45th Avenue. Anyone who comes to those entrances not common to them are subject to anger and are subject to sneers and comments." It seems to us at Wallace to be a cold war; whites stay with whites and cut down Blacks in private. Blacks stay with Blacks and cut down whites.

It would seem if rules applied here these attitudes should remain constant, but they don't. As Dino Travline, a Junior states, "Certain sports such as football, baseball, swimming and wrestling are predominately white and other sports are considered dominated by Blacks, such as basketball and unknowingly tore up almost all of the racial ties Blacks and Whites had was the beginning of a troublesome period for our Lew Wallace students. His speech, directed mainly, in his own words "to the minority students, and the rest of you don't have to listen now," brought boos and obscene remarks out of whites and cheers from Black students. But that speech wasn't all which hurt feelings and caused anger on both sides. Because of misunderstandings on the part of all students, pupils began leaving before the program's end. Blacks felt offended and whites felt faced with a situation in which they were unwelcome and fearful.

As the week progressed, tension mounted. Countless fights, before during and after school occurred, all because of the injustice both sides felt.

Although suspensions were handed out, nothing could fix the dam which had burst. School was closed for several days and committees of staff, track. But by no means is either discriminated against when teams are formed. There are whites on track and Blacks in football. That's proof enough."

Clubs and activities sometimes are a problem. Whites don't participate in Hi-Y nor are there any Black members in the Ethnic Club. Sometimes when clubs can't handle changes in the membership, all Blacks or all whites will drop out, leaving it, not an interest club, but an organization for one particular race, but not always. As a matter of fact, most clubs at Wallace are integrated. For example, Student Council membership is pretty well mixed. And, after speaking to class officers and representatives, when joined for one cause the racial and ethnic differences seem unimportant.

What's important is the purpose involved.

Perhaps people haven't changed at Wallace. Maybe those people who are fighting would fight no matter if the riot had happened or not. As a Junior put it, "To some people, a nigger is always a nigger, a honkey's always a honkey. No matter what is said and done, it comes down to that." Is that an appropriate answer to such a pressing problem?

It may seem too late to stop the wheels that are already set in motion. Kathy McDonald, Sophomore Class president, included in her inaugural speech the importance of racial and ethnic understanding. And, that the hostile feelings we may have should be put aside and students should concentrate on bettering the class. If only all students could think that way, Lew Wallace would be ahead of the game.

There is hardly anything left to be said. After all the sit ins and rap sessions of two years ago, it seems that we got nothing but a lot half-hearted promises. If a handful of people are determined to keep the races apart, whether through fist fights or cold stares, they will, just be making it rough on others. It's easy to write it off, saying it was Ali's fault for coming and stirring up hard feelings. But if those prejudiced feelings weren't there to begin with, no one could ever create a riot about discrimination.

What was said by Ali couldn't be changed, yet the reactions to it could have been. Committees met but never related their findings to the school. Parents called local radio stations with complaints and highfrown solutions, but never took the time to put them into action. Administrators and staff made promises, but no real progress was ever seen. The local paper practically ignored the existence of a problem. TV stations covered Lew Wallace, but no follow-ups ever checked on results.

So here we sit, two years later. What has been done? What was accomplished? Fights still occur with regularity in the hallways—many of them prompted by racial slurs. The races still segregate—in the cafeteria, in clubs, in classes, in assemblies, almost anywhere students come in groups. Rarely will mixed groups be seen cruising up and down Broadway.

Parties are almost strictly segregated, not only by racial, but by ethnic groups as well.

Can there be a solution to the problems which face Lew Wallace? The only answer seems to be with the personal attitudes of the students and faculty. Unless those can be brought about. Violence apparently did not do the job, so what can be done to change people? As a Junior said, "I have to live by what I've learned. My parents and my friends all have an effect on what I feel. It's pretty hard to change my whole life." In the same vein, a Senior stated, "I have my own beliefs, but there's a lot of pressure from other people to act with the group."

On the opposite hand, one Black Sophomore said, "I don't want to mix with whites. I think the whites feel everything they do is better. I want my own culture and my own music." Yet a Freshman says, "When Blacks demand equality with whites, they turn around and try to segregate again after they get what they started out for. It seems like no real sharing of things really goes on." What do we now? Where do we go from here? Are there any answers?

The answers seem to be something which must come from the heart of each individual. Everyone must make his or her own choice. And yet as a Junior said, "There's no way. You can't force change in people." It would seem that the only attitude changes come through personal exposure and new experience. One Sophomore said it when she stated, "I know I've changed my views in the last four years. Experiences with both Blacks and whites have shown me that you can't put everyone in the same category."

There's trash in both races, and you have to be able to choose for yourself the best person and not the 'best' race."

The Quill and Blade staff would like to note that some of the names of students were omitted in the above report at their request. We feel that this is a definite indication of the severity of the problem which faces the Lew Wallace community.

Four years may seem like a long time, but when you really come down to it, it's not. Think back on your four years of high school ... all those crazy times you spent with your friends. Remember when you were a Freshman? The first time you entered Wallace, you felt so alone. Although you were a "greenie" you were proud to be part of the school. Sophomore year had a few drawbacks. Dissecting frogs in Biology class was not your favorite pastime. So now you're a junior. You seemed to grow up so much during the summer. Prom is one event that you don't ever think you'll forget. Summer and finally you're classified as a senior. Senior pics were taken and when you went back to school in September, you realized that this is it. Winning Spirit Week hall competition was a breeze. Before you realized it the year was at it's end. Zotting gave you one last time to decorate the school. Saying good-bye to friends was hard. June 6th, and it's all over, never to return again. Think back and remember all those years and know it went fast.

On June 6th, the class of 1977 was assembled for the very last time in the Polk Gym. As the concert band played Pomp and Circumstance, nervous, but happy, students filed into the gym. The Baccalaureate Address was given by Rev. Dr. Robert Lowery. Salutatorian Carole Jean Shafis gave her speech, "Self Challenge—Pathway to Success," which was succeeded by Valedictorian James Leon Mladenik's speech, "Work—Pathway to Success." After the conferring of diplomas, Principal Christoff announced the graduates. As the grads left the gym, they knew that high school life was over, and now came the time to prove themselves.

Principals Demonstrate Principles

Providing answers to problems is an everyday task for the Lew Wallace administration. They not only demonstrate but help the student perfect their own conduct for everyday situations now and in the future. Because of the large student body attending Wallace, Principal Mr. Christ Christoff cannot perform this task alone, but fortunately for the students he has Mr. Alfred Smith, Mr. Steve Bazin, and Mr. Howard King to assist him. A new addition this year is Dean of Students Mr. Clausell Harding.

He handles all of the truancy and detention cases, keeping quite busy with the six day limit absences rule.

1. Mr. Christoff takes a break from his busy schedule to smile for the QB photographer. 2. A new member of Lew Wallace's administration, Mr. Harding, gives a little grin. 3. Mr. Bazin talks over serious business on the telephone. 4. Mr. King looks up to talk to a student while sitting at his desk. 5. Mr. Smith turns to check the time before going to a meeting. 6. The administration takes a break during a meeting.

A Nice Wave from the Secretaries

"Do you have a doctor's note?" is a familiar statement made by the secretaries at Lew Wallace High School.

But writing admits and tardy slips, as most students see it isn't all our secretaries have to do. All day they're busy paying bills, keeping the records accurate, and checking up on the attendance records. These are just a few of the jobs the secretaries are responsible for in that big, busy office. Although some students don't realize it, there are many who see school couldn't function very well without them.

1. Mrs. Burrows takes time out of her busy day to water the plants. 2. Mrs. Sorcevich had such a nice smile on her face we couldn't resist the picture. 3. Starting from left to right Miss Sakes, Mrs. Skinta, Miss Hayes, Mrs. Vance, Mrs. Bullock, and Mrs. Campbell, all take a break from their daily routine.

A Good Place to Think

Because many students don't like to take time out of their busy after school activities, the library at Wallace has offered many other ways of understanding different subjects. Not only for these students, but for everyone there are pamphlets, records, and sound film strips. These are just a few ways the Library makes learning for the students a little easier. But these are just optional studies—the Library hasn't changed at all for the students who like to keep their noses in books, there are still a wide variety of books to choose from in the Library.

4. One of the library aides shows her assistant how to check out books the right way. 5. Diane Shipman listens to Mrs. Foster as she answers a question for her. 6. A Lew Wallace student takes time out to study privately in the Library.

Calculators Promote Accuracy

Proofs, graphs, equations and calculations all provided the mathematically minded student with some new challenges. With math being one of the required courses to graduate, there is a wide selection to choose from. There is Math IV, for the accelerated student, or General Math for those who are not college bound. Calculators being very popular this year proved a great asset to students in Calculus or Trigometry courses. Students who are enrolled in Chemistry courses found the calculator skills very useful. There is Statistics and Probabilities for students to learn how to beat the odds. For the competitive student a series of Math contests were held at different schools throughout the year.

1. The choir in action is performing in the play that was about Charlie Brown. 2. Pam Konikowski marches along with the band during one of the football games. 3. Sing along with Mr. Fissinger. 4. What pieces of art our students produce. 5. A one, and a two, and a three, is how Mr. Chilson begins his band class. 6. Working quickly is one of the art students. 7. Becky Merced and Carolyn Jenson experiment in Photography. They are trying to decide the best pose for a portrait.

The Fine Arts Department helps students display all their talents. This year the choir had a number of speakers, performers, and field trips that highlighted the program. Art students were given a chance to improve and display their fine work through periodic shows in the display cases throughout the building. The Drama class spent many hard hours a day preparing for their spring production. While these students were busy working inside the Band was practicing many hard hours preparing for the football games outside. Meanwhile the Photography students searched for that special picture.

Listening to tapes recorded by student volunteers or reading their assignments in braille, is something the blind and handicap students do while they're not attending regular classes. For the slower learning students there were special classes to help them along. The TESOL or foreign speaking students advanced progressively throughout the year as a result of a series of twelve books and constant attention from the aides. Teaching English to non-English speaking students is a very difficult task, but the new Lew Wallace students accomplished their goal of competency.

1. Miss Bullet uses lip reading as a method of teaching the deaf. 2. Gregg Walton has a discussion in class using sign language. 3. Students sit back to watch their teacher explain a lesson. 4. TESOL students learn to read and write English. 5. Foreign students read books aloud in English. 6. TESOL students work hard on a test.

English Dept. Takes a Trip to see The Wiz

Pencils, paper, notebooks, grammar, and reading are all a part of the average English class. For the sophomores who like to be on their own Independent Study is available. English IV is almost a must for the senior planning to enter college. Some English classes had the opportunity to go to Chicago to see "The Wiz," a musical version of "The Wizard of OZ." Mini-courses fill the interests for the everyday student. It allows them to take a break from the same teacher all year.

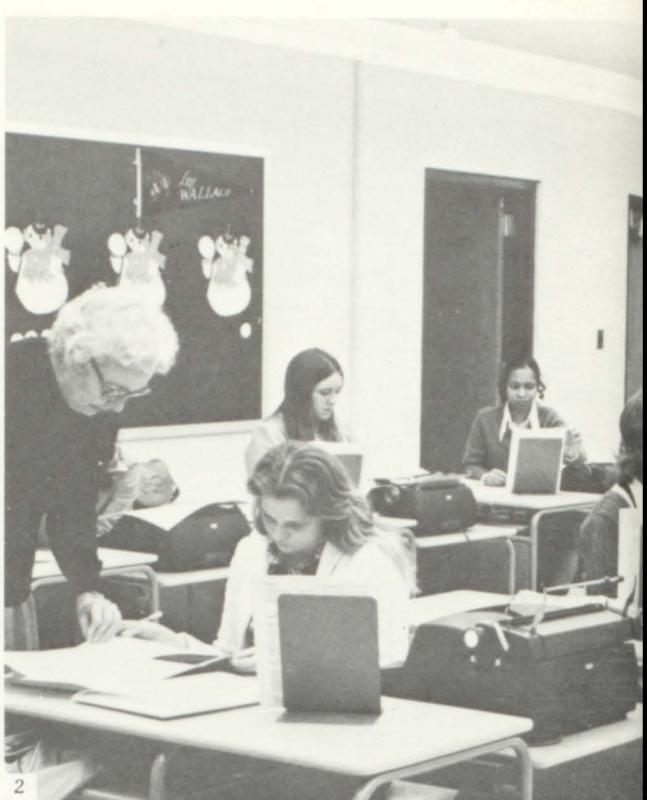

1. Student volunteers to tutor grade schoolers. 2. Diane Flanagan daydreams after a hard hour's work. 3. Mr. Schmid reviews the English assignment. 4. An English class cooperates in group work. 5. Mrs. Yorko's class gathers around to observe something. 6. Gina White tries to figure out the right answer during her test.

Typing Provides Useful Talent For Future

To prepare Hornets for future office careers, students in the business department gained practical experience in secretarial skills. In shorthand classes students experienced dictation and transcription and worked to gain higher speeds. To have a real look at a secretary's life, the shorthand students traveled to Lake County Court House and Twin Towers Office Complex.

For the advanced typist there were transcribing machines to help increase and better their skills. For the students who weren't sure of their future plans but wanted to get a taste of business techniques, Bookkeeping, General Business, Business Law, and Personal Typing courses were offered.

1. Lynn Shutz sits back to take a break and chat with Chris Beamon. 2. Mrs. Speck helps a student who has trouble in typing II. 3. Sue Tkacs looks up to take a break in Shorthand I. 5. Students in Typing II have to use a little Mathematics to figure out their margins. 6. Mrs. Speck gives her students a pat on the shoulder for doing a good job.

Social Studies Looks at Today and Tomorrow

The Social Studies Department offers courses such as United States History, Government and Economics, and World Civilization for the basis of the program. Students may also choose classes relating to the present social problems in their environment, such as Afro-American History and Social Problems. The teachers try to prepare the students for various problems they may encounter in society so that it will be easier to cope and find a solution. Not only to get the students to look into the future, but to keep them aware of what's happening today, current events are discussed quite frequently.

1. Miss Kouvelas points out a map to a student. 2. One of the students who has nothing to do catches up on her reading while assisting a teacher. 3. Mr. Chaney smiles big when our photographer strolls past, but he is planning the week's schedule.

2

4. Three students in History class sit quietly while taking a test. 5. Students in World Civilization class are ready to pull their hair out because they weren't prepared for final exams. 6. Jay DuMay smiles as he reads up on the times. Really, it's the comics.

Foreign Languages Supply Variety

Gaining knowledge of the language of a foreign country along with its culture is like becoming part of the country. In the multi-lingual society, Lew Wallace has incorporated a variety of foreign languages into its curriculum to meet the demands of the community. Spanish, French, Russian, Latin, and German are the languages offered to Wallacites. Students progress by using visual aids, electric chandeliers, hanging earphones, and oral discussion. The Hornets who continue into their third and fourth years with these languages study the cultural aspects of the languages by studying traditions, preparing foods, and learning the geography of the land.

In the science department knowing the key to a formula is a sign of a good scientist. In the Wallace Science department, students are able to experiment individually with modern laboratory equipment, which helps the student understand with greater depth. Basic courses in physical and bio-physical science, biology and physics were offered for the students who are sure of themselves, advanced courses in physics, chemistry, and biology were offered.

Biology class has its ups and downs for most students. The annual dissecting of frogs is an experiment each biology student experiences. The science department is a very educational one and one needed if planning on going in to a medical career, but, it also lets the students investigate the nature of the world in which we live.

1. Biology class reads a chapter before the test tomorrow. 2. Mr. Vereb puts it down in black and white to help out the students. 3. Roberta Kaplan studies intently before her Advanced Biology final. 4. Dan Walman and Carol Shafis dispute a problem. 5. Diane Vician covers her face while trying to prove a point. 6. Bill Maxin wonders what to do next.

Industrial Arts Show Skills

In the Industrial Arts department students with special talents can learn more about the subject they're interested in, and change them into useful skills.

Courses offered to Industrial Arts students include woodshop, electric shop, print shop, metal shop, power mechanics, and mechanical drawing; which gives the students a wide variety to choose from to receive the training they need for working in the industrial world.

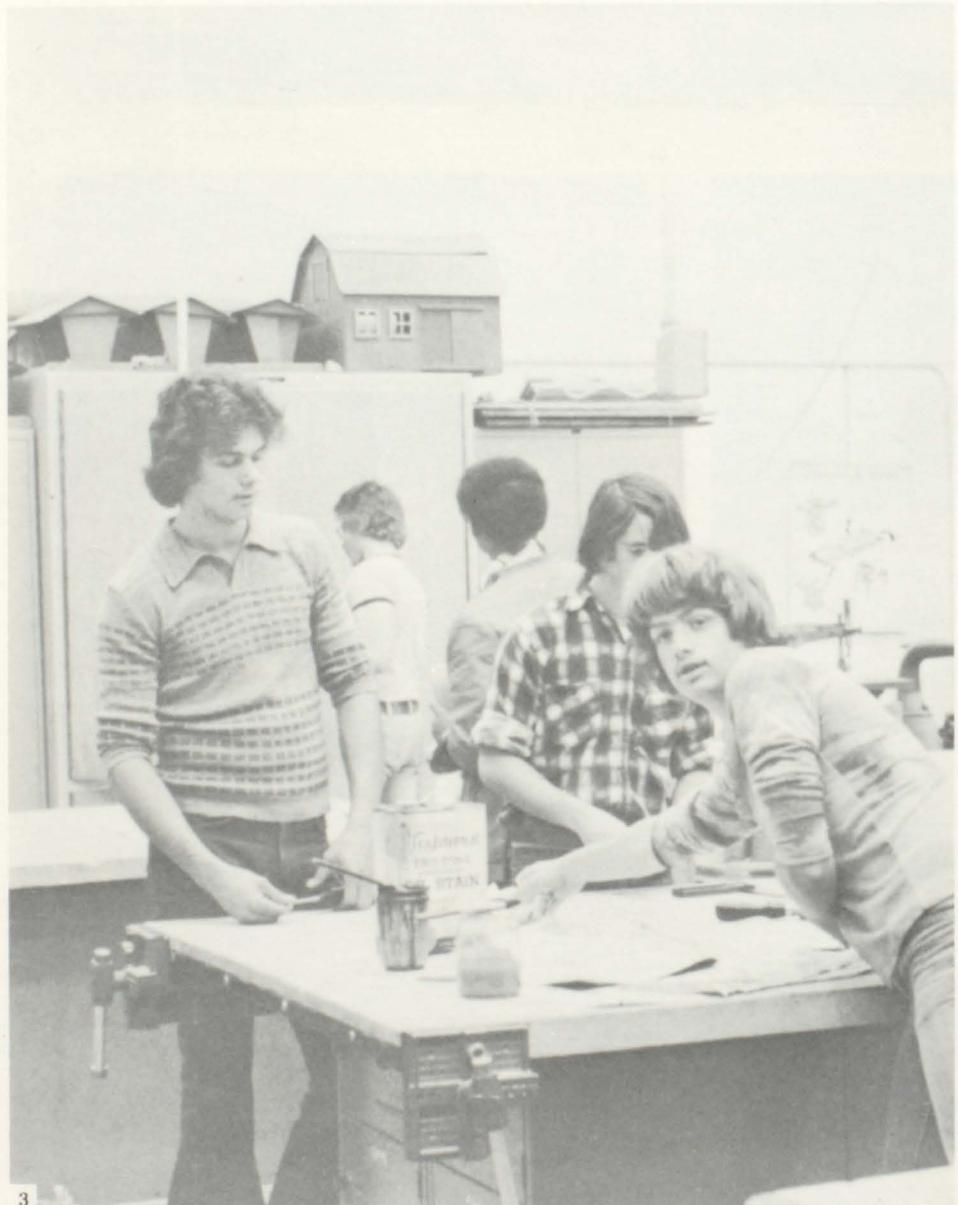

The Industrial Arts department is equipped very well with tools and machines identical to those found on-the-job in industry.

ROTC Attracts Attention

Students who enroll in ROTC not only go to daily classroom sessions, but also go through weekly inspections, an annual inspection and participation in city-wide competition.

The members from the Male and Female Drill Team practice many long and hard hours after school to perfect their routine for competition at West Side where schools from all over the city compete. All the competition and classroom work keeps the Drill Teams busy.

Gym Classes Lead Off To a Healthy Year

At Lew Wallace you can bet there's more to Phys Ed than just sit-ups and jumping jacks. Basketball, swimming, volleyball, tennis, handball or any sport—all are ways provided to encourage physical fitness.

Health and Safety are two more courses taught by the Physical Education Dept. Included in the Safety class, are mouth to mouth resuscitation and CPR. These two types of training may come in handy for emergency purposes in the future. Driver's Ed is offered for students who would like a head start driving before obtaining their licenses.

4. Susie Corona and Marsha Cantrell lead their gym class while everyone else looks on during the daily routine. 5. Coach Ward checks out his gym class to see if they are busy doing their exercises right. 6. Make that shot, is what's on the mind of Carol Hocza as she practices her basketball techniques that she learned this year in gym class.

Home Economics Prepares Hornets for Future Life in The Big World

Home Ec at Wallace is more than just pots, pans, pins, and needles. It's a way to prepare for events in everyday life, and practical experience is offered through labs, speakers, and demonstrations. Sewing the latest fashions or conjuring up some exotic dish is only part of the Home Ec curriculum. Child Development, Consumer Education, Interpersonal Relationships, and Family Relationships are a few of the courses offered to supply students a chance for self-expression.

A Christmas party was one of the programs sponsored by the Child development classes which brought relatives and friends of the students to Wallace to share the seasonal cheer.

Interior Design classes created room color schemes which were displayed as part of their grades.

1. Ho, Ho, Ho, it's Mr. Stewart. 2. Miss Conover's class takes a look at child development. 3. Deeply concentrating on that stitch is one of Lew Wallace's sewing students. 4. Miss Conover offers a helping hand to a student. 5. A demonstrator shows students helpful hints. 6. Paulina Demovski gets a second opinion of her project in baking.

Hornets Buzz to 8-2 Season—Win City Title

The Hornets boomed into action by starting off the football season with a win and won all but two of their games. They also succeeded in winning the Northwest Conference title again making it the second straight year they grabbed the conference crown. The team gave the fans something to cheer about by winning the Wallace Homecoming game against Horace Mann by a score of 49-12. Another joyous moment for the team was when they slipped past one of the Hornet's strongest rivals, the Andrean '59ers.

The Hornets buzzed to victory after victory with the help and guidance of the coaching staff, headed by Mr. Mike Jennings, along with Mr. Dave Templin and Mr. Ira Judge. As one player said, "The coaching staff did a beautiful job this year. They made us state contenders."

1. Kelvin Dixon runs home for a touchdown. 3. The Hornets leave Munster's field after defeating the Mustangs. 4. Halfback Brian Svetanoff stops an Andrean '59er as Mark Bardeson escapes with the ball. 5. Coach Jennings "makes a point" to some of the players!

Hornets Swoop to Football Victories

The 1976-77 Football teams, Varsity,

Reserve, and Freshmen, were all reasons for L.W. people to be proud of their Hornet heritage. The Freshmen team came back from a five-game losing streak by winning the next six games and snatched the city crown. The Reserve team finished the season with a record of 3-2. And, of course, the Varsity team cornered the Conference crown once again. Mr. Jim Kendig was the Freshmen coach who led them to their winning season. Coach Mike Jennings said this of the Varsity Team, "We accomplished our goal of winning the conference, but our record (8-2) was better than expected." Coach Jennings also stated that the team's stars were all the seniors. With 75% of the team returning, L.W. can look for another winning season.

Hornets Learn the Thrill of Victory

Terrific tackling, beastly blocking, and magnificent maneuvering weren't all

'76-'77 Hornets did well. Besides showing that they could play football, they ran to an 8-2 season this year.

Coaches Mike Jennings, Ira Judge, and Dave Templin, with their '77 Hornets, snatched the Northwest Conference crown, and ranked 16th in the state. The gridmen defeated such teams as Roosevelt, by a score of 43-6, and Munster, whom the Hornets barely squeezed by with a score of 13-12.

They also swiped victories from Calumet, Emerson, and Wirt.

1. Paul Kutanovski kicks the ball to victory at the Andrean game. 2. Jim Mladenik rushes with the ball as his fellow team mates clear the way. 3.

The Hornets get together during a time-out.

4. Players on the side-line lend support to the team members on the playing field.

Netmen Volley to a 4-7 Season

The '76-'77 L.W. Tennis teams, though they returned many a serve to their opponents, still ended with a losing season of 4-7. With four seniors on the team, about 70% of the players will be returning to try to volley to some victories. Coach Nick Day strived to make a winning team out of the players, but, although he worked up many a sweat, the goal just couldn't be met. The best player on the team, according to Coach Day, was Joe Olah, and his record of 10-3 backs up that statement. As a senior, Olah will leave the team to do without him next year.

Some victories on L.W.'s record are over Emerson, Horace Mann, and West Side, whom the Hornets shut out with a score of 5-0.

X-Countrymen lead All the

This year, the Hornets' X-Countrymen crossed the finish line first 8 times, finishing with a season record of 8-5. Coach Ed Brown was the one who was never too far away, keeping a watchful eye on the members of the team. Some of the teams that the Hornets beat were Emerson, Andrean, and Merrillville. They also placed a proud fourth in the Northwest Conference, and 11th in the Sectionals. They also ran in many Invitations.

1. Coach Ed Brown gives a runner some advice. 2. Three Hornet X-Countrymen keep in shape by running after school.

Way to an 8-5 Season

3. Practice makes perfect as these Hornets demonstrate.

Hornets Couldn't Spike to Victory

As one of the players put it, "The Volleyball teams really tried hard this year." They may have spiked and blocked their hearts out, but somehow that winning season slipped past the 1977 Varsity and Reserve Volleyball teams. Although their coach Miss Janis Qualizza watched over them game after game, the teams still couldn't get that extra point or that one block that wins the games.

Though some of the team members won't be returning next year, about  $\frac{3}{4}$  of the team will be, and they, along with the new players the team will have, could give the Hornets a winning season.

1. Miss Marlyn Leach gives first aid to a player who really got into the game! 2. Kim Hume slaps the ball over the net as a rival tries to block her shot. 3. Players take a rest during a time-out in order to save up some more energy for the game!

Mermen Stroke to a Winning Finish

The 1977 Lew Wallace Swimming team was a team that had its ups and downs. Though they didn't succeed in winning every meet, they did manage to steal a few victories from their rivals. The team was made up of four freshmen, seven sophomores, one junior, and eight seniors. Coach Ernest Vereb was the guide of the team. As Coach Vereb said of the team, "They were hard-working, self-sacrificing athletes, trying to overcome an impossible handicap." The star Lew Wallace merman was Virgil Strauss, who missed making the state finals by .10 of a second. With two-thirds of the team returning next year, the outlook for next year is brighter.

'77 Grapplers Wrestle Their Way

The 1977 Lew Wallace Wrestling team came in with a boom and went out with a 4-6 season. The team, which was coached by Mr. Dave Templin, was made up of sophomores, juniors, and seniors. One senior who will be missed is Duane Yuraitis, who was the best player on the team, according to many LW wrestling fans. Although the team record of 4-6 doesn't give the impression of a winning season, many people thought that the grapplers wrestled like winners. As one fan said, "Just because their record isn't great, it doesn't mean their wrestling wasn't."

'76-'77 Cagemen Shoot for the Stars

The 1976-77 Basketball teams were a mixture of old and new. Under the watchful eye of Coach Bill Kukoy, the Hornet's Varsity team tried its best to come through for the fans. Coach Tom Ward was the helpful hand for the reserve team. While they didn't win every game, the teams did pull through on some important ones. The Lew Wallace Basketball Homecoming game was one of the victories that was a real crowd-pleaser, and it sent the '77 seniors on their way in a cheerful mood.

The final quarter encompassed a see-saw battle between L.W. and the River-Forest Ingots for the lead. It ended in a last-second victory for L.W. With few returning players, the '78 team will have many new faces.

Frosh Teams End With a Losing Season

The 1976-77 Freshmen Basketball team was a large one. It was divided into two groups, team A and team B. The coach of the team was Mr. Ken Chaney. This was only his second year as the helping hand of the Hornets' Freshmen team. As Coach Chaney said, "I thought this season was better than expected. We had a lot of talent." Hopefully, we'll be seeing many of these faces on the reserve team next year. And, under the watchful eye of Coach Chaney, next year's men will have a better team than ever, to prove once again, that Hornets are No. 1!

Girls' Basketball Dribbles to 6-8 Season

The Girls' Basketball team ended with a 6-8 season but played with the effort to win. Janice Qualizza, the team's coach stated, "Though we ended with a 6-8 season, we'll lose Pruitt and Wallace since they're our only two seniors." The star players of the year were Laurie Pruitt, Melissa Downs and Renee McCloud. All three made the All City Conference.

Hornet Trackmen Race to

The 1977 LW Track team had a reason to celebrate when the track season was finally over. That reason was a team record of 21-9. The harriers were pushed from victory to victory by their coach, Mr. Ed Brown. As Coach Brown said, "I felt the team was very dedicated. There was a lot of closeness among the guys. This has been the best year we've had since I've been here ..." This year Coach said, Bill Hayes was his best runner. With all but four harriers returning, Coach said he is very enthusiastic about next year.

Harriers Run, Jump, and

Long jump ... high jump ... hurdling ... shot put ... softball throw ... 880 relay ... 100 yard dash ... these events and more are what make up girls track. Ending the season with a 8-4 record, the harriers jumped and ran with all their might. Miss Janis Qualizza, the team's coach was the running force who guided them meet after meet. The star of the team was Candice Corbin, who became the school by going all the way to the state finals and taking a 5th place in the long jump with a 18 feet  $\frac{1}{2}$  inch jump. A few schools that the Hornets outran and outjumped were West Side, Hammond Tech, and an old rival, Andrean.

Batmen Run Home to a 7-16 Season

The '77 batmen of L.W. batted their way to a disappointing 7-16 season this year. But just because they didn't have a winning season, Hornet fans didn't lose all faith. As one fan put it, "I think both teams played well. Maybe they didn't win every game, but they showed spirit, determination, and sportsmanship . . ." Coach Nick Day was the behind the scenes mentor of the Hornets who stayed with them through the good and the bad. The ballplayers did manage to out-hit several teams including Merrillville, Calumet, and Crown Point, whom they outplayed with a final score of 8-1.

Golfers Tee to Conference and City Crowns ...

"They were all stars. In my opinion, Frank Venturella was the best player." That was what Coach Bill Kukoy said of the '77 Lew Wallace Golf team. This year's golfers ended the season with a 14-6 record. They also putted their way to both the City and Conference Championships, making it the second straight year they captured the crowns. With one senior on the '77 team, four out of this year's five golfers will tee off again next year. Some of the victories the golfers landed were against teams such as Roosevelt, Horace Mann, and Emerson. Some of the losses we suffered were by Andrean, Calumet, and Wirt, who defeated us by a narrow margin of 186-185.

Endurance, Determination, Sportsmanship;

What makes a winner? Some say the winners are those who have the talent to do well in their fields . . . others say the winners are those who strive the most to reach their goals. One of the things that made some Wallace Hornets winners is going the farthest, as in the case of Candace Corbin (track—long-jump). Another thing is going the fastest, as in the cases of Billy Hayes (track) and Virgil Strauss (swimming). And still one more is hitting the target, as in the cases of Joe Olah (tennis) and Laurie Pruitt (Girls' Basketball). But put it all together, and you got a winner.

Concessions, Pom Pons Boost Spirit in Their Own Way

The Booster Club and the Pom Pon girls were the leaders of school spirit this year.

The members of the Booster Club expressed their feelings through brightly painted signs with eye-catching slogans.

The Pom Pon girls encouraged the football and basketball teams, and entertained at many games. Under the direction of Mrs. Hortense C. House, the group sponsored a sports raffle, a car wash, and two candy sales. A new feature of the club was the forming of a mascot group of young girls ranging in age from 5-11 years old.

Girls' Club Serves with a Smile

The Lew Wallace Girls' Club started the year off by hosting the traditional Freshman Week activities, including an orientation assembly and a pool party for Big and Little Sisters. The theme of the November turnabout was "Over the Rainbow," and "Waves" provided the music. In March, everyone's birthday was celebrated at the annual Birthday Potluck, with the juniors winning the skit competition. Shopping sprees to the Woodfield Mall in Schaumburg, Illinois, added to the excitement of a busy year. Club sponsors were Mrs. Pauline Burelli and Miss Dorothy Kouvelas.

The Lew Wallace Student Council is a student body organized to better citizenship and to maintain and strengthen communications within the high school community. Besides sponsoring the football and basketball homecomings, Student Council also took charge of student elections and student officer inauguration. As an activity for Spirit Week, Council sponsored the "Olympics," raising money for the S.O.S. humanity drive. The organization serves as a liaison between the student body and the administration, promoting school ideas and student life. The club was under the direction of Mr. Stephen S. Parfenoff this year.

Philosopher Staff Makes Headlines

The Lew Wallace Philosopher Staff started the year off with a new sponsor, Mrs. Sondra Craig. Under her direction, the paper went through a few changes. Many aspects of its format were changed.

"Athlete of the Week" and "Sports opinion" were added to the sports section, while Chris Subartowicz's "Conglomeration" was added to the features. The editorial section of the paper was also expanded. Members of the staff sold wish ads, spirit ads, and carnations for Valentine's Day in order to raise money. The Senior Edition was published again this year, with Cathy Gonzales in charge.

As one of the co-op groups in the Gary area, Vocational Industrial Clubs of America tries to promote interest in its particular field, and develop leadership and citizenship in its participants.

Members attended school for half a day, then worked at their respective training stations the other half of the day. On May 14th, the group took a field trip to Great America. To end the year's activities, a banquet was held for all the co-op groups on May 18th. This year's officers were Ronald North (President), Jami Klimis (Vice-president), and Carolyn Davis (Secretary-treasurer). Their sponsor was Mr. Leonard Haile.

Hi-Y Serves School and Community

Sponsored by Mr. Lee Moss, the Lew Wallace Hi-Y provided the school and the community with a few charity events this year. The club presented underprivileged families with Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets. Members sponsored an exchange with Roosevelt School members, a clean-up, fix-up campaign, and a senior banquet. The Sweetheart Ball was held on March 4th, and this year's reigning Sweetheart was Curtessa Jacques.

Spanish Club Highlights Orphans' Year

Initiation, bake sales, a candy sale, a visit to a Mexican restaurant, a Christmas Party, and a picnic were just some of the many activities sponsored by this year's Spanish Club. Members of the club also donated toys to the orphans at the Carmelite Home for Boys during the Christmas season. Their sponsor was Mrs. Carmen Valle.

"We've got spirit, yes we do. We've got spirit, how 'bout you?" That's the question asked of the opposing team's cheering section as our cheerleaders encouraged us to out-shout and out-cheer them. Many long hard hours of practice enabled members of our cheerleading squad to provide the Hornets with a real boost of energy. Miss Angela Hannagan was their sponsor this year.

Latin Students Gather for Special Prom

The Latin American Club was formed for those students interested in the culture of the Latin Americans or having a desire to learn about their customs. The group sponsored a car wash, a bake sale, and a Halloween party. Club members also entertained handicapped children and gave them gifts. On April 30th, Latin students from all the high schools in the Gary area sponsored a prom. The biggest event of the year was Latin American History Week, during which an assembly and a dance were presented. The sponsors of the group were Mrs. Johnetta Williams and Mr. Anthony Valle.

1. 1977 Officers: Mr. Anthony V. Valle, Christine Johnson (Secy), Willie Luna (Treas), Martha Gomez (Pres), Maria Rosado (VP). 2. The activities of the Biology Club included fund-raising through bake sales, candy sales, and dances. With Mr. Lee Moss as sponsor, the group attended science lectures and biological consultations at various college campuses, including Notre Dame, Indiana University, Bloomington, and Indiana State. Members also attended a Health Career Seminar in Indianapolis on April 21st. The only requirements for membership were one year of science and a definite interest in participating actively in all the club's endeavors.

Y-Teens Encourage Good Will

This year the Y-teens of Lew Wallace were active in the community as well as among the students at school. The club members distributed Christmas and Thanksgiving baskets among needy families in the area. New members took part in a week-long initiation. A banquet was held in January, and a mother-daughter tea and a bike-hike were planned for the spring. The freshman-sophomore group was sponsored by Mrs. Sondra Craig, and the junior-senior group by Mrs. Hortense C. House.

Sponsored by Mr. J.M. Mrak, Pica members met every Thursday after school. The purpose of the club was to further interest in the graphic arts and to be of service to the school and the community, and that's exactly what was accomplished by its members this year. The club printed the Girls' Club turnabout tickets and programs, and 1500 copies of a calendar that was sent all over the United States. They also printed calling cards, tickets, and stationery for many of the business functions held in the Gary area. To raise money for a computerized composing machine, the group sold iron-on transfers.

OEA Provides Equal Opportunities Program

Sponsored by Mrs. Emogene L. McMurtrey, the 1977 Office Education Association's goal was to develop leadership in the field of office education. To raise money, the group had a candy sale and a car wash. Community projects included giving a Christmas basket to a needy family and supporting the Special Olympics. The members of the club also participated in the District Leadership Conference held on February 12th, and in the State Leadership Conference held April 1-3 in Indianapolis.

Action? Dependability? Self-esteem? Tradition? Going ... Going ... Gone...

Whether anyone knows it or not, student apathy is a major problem here at Lew Wallace. However, most students and teachers do not realize what is happening to school spirit and how it is affecting them as individuals. It seems that everything is going downhill.

Why aren't students involving themselves with school activities anymore? When asked this question, Senior Jim Mladenik replied, "Today more kids work than ten years ago, and the general attitude of all students everywhere is apathetic unless the school has a state champion or very competitive teams." On the other hand, many students today do not work, yet still don't want anything to do with school after 3:30 dismissal bell rings. What do they do? They sit down in front of the boob tube and get turned on.

Some parents are to blame for the attitudes and actions of their kids today. Many of them don't care what the kids do, as long as they don't bother them.

As one club sponsor pointed out, one reason students don't participate in club activities is because they don't come to school. They become interested in sex, alcohol, and drugs too soon. The idea of good, clean fun is frowned upon. She also stated that staff members, administrators, and students can't make time for each other. Everyone goes their own way.

Students today seem to care only about themselves and nobody else. It was also pointed out by a student that usually when kids quit taking part in club activities, it's because their friends do also.

If things are this bad now, what will Lew Wallace be like in five years? If something isn't done to improve student-teacher-administrator relationships now, school will be the prison kids are talking about now. There will be no extra-curricular activities.

A student also stated that many students say that staying after school is a waste of time—they have better things to do.

Hi-Y had to cancel quite a few dances because of lack of attendance. No one is left in the Booster Club. Since the auditorium was closed, the Drama Club has suffered greatly. This year there has been a great decline in attendance at Student Council and Girls' Club meetings. The Inkpots and the Home Ec Club have folded because of lack of interest. The French Club also did not exist this year.

Who supported the cheerleaders this year? How many students attended football and basketball games? What about wrestling matches, swim meets, baseball games, tennis matches, track meets, or volleyball games?

The staffs of the Philosopher and the Quill and Blade really suffered this year. School newspaper sales averaged 250 sales an issue, and 675 yearbooks were sold to 2500 students!!

It was pointed out by another

teacher that if worse comes to worse, our school, like many other area schools, will have to allow designated school time for club activities.

Members of all clubs would meet during a so-called "activity period."

Some suggestions made by students concerning new projects for next year include having pep rallies for all sports participants (girls, too), starting a girls' softball team, bringing back homecoming dances, class parties away from school, field trips through the school to concerts, a chemistry or physics club, and World Civ mini-courses. Freshman Steve Wisneski suggested starting a Polish Club for students of Polish background.

When asked what could be done about student apathy at LW, Junior Trish Gourlay replied, "I don't think there's much we can do about the people who lack spirit. We've tried different things to improve it—now it's really up to them."

Senior Spirit Arises

Senior year is one in which many things can happen. It excites you and makes you sad. Realizing this is the final year is something to look forward to. When looking back on the times it seems hard to believe it happened so fast. To work for years and accomplish the goal of graduating is something to be proud of. The spirit that exists brings the whole class together. We are thought of as one and share in the experiences of the year. The clubs, games, dances, meetings, and getting together after school. It is a rewarding and fulfilling year. Spirit Week is the time to show how much you appreciate your school and class. This year the senior class worked hard for weeks in preparation for the "Space Odyssey" theme. The result was overwhelming participation and great fun. The class was given the honor of being the most spirited and went on to win the spirit stick from vociferous underclassmen.

Jubilant seniors cheer as they win the spirit stick.

Busy Activities Surround Senior Year

From the start of senior year there is always an event that leads to one thing—graduation. Ordering announcements and taking pictures are handled during junior year and summer. When school begins schedule changes are made to ensure all credits are needed for graduation. Soon caps and gowns are ordered. Class meetings are held and fund raisers take place to boost the treasury. Toward the end of school is found to be the busiest. Plans are made for prom and students are given their last requirements. Seniors begin to make plans for their future and with help from counselors select colleges and trades.

Junior Officers Shape Up Plans for a Memorable Year

As the juniors realized that '78 was drawing nearer, they bonded together to show the other classes that there was a special kind of spirit that juniors alone possessed. This spirit was made active by junior class president Theresa Wislo, vice-president Cedric Randle, secretary Rhonda Henning, and treasurer Ray Benjamin.

The year continued in victory as the juniors won both the football and the basketball homecoming float competition with "Stabilize the Horsemen" and "Go-Fer the Ingots."

Projects which provided money and fun were a skating party, bake sales, car washes, and pennant sales. Most of this money financed the 1977 Prom.

As the end of the year approached, the juniors found it hard to concentrate on their studies and even harder to keep from thinking about the summer and their senior year to come.

Sophs Anticipate Their Future, Start Building It Now

This being their second year, the class of '79 kept moving ahead. Getting licenses, and going out after the games kept them from worrying about school. At the inauguration, Kathy McDonald gave her speech and was sworn in along with Vice-Pres. Susie Corona, Secretary Cindy Wislo, and Treasurer Skipp Schultz. At Football Homecoming the Sophomores presented their float "Sit On It, Mann." They also won the Spirit Stick, showing their enthusiasm. At the Basketball Homecoming, they applauded the choice of Janet Vasquez as Homecoming Princess, and "Demolish the Ingots" aptly provided the mini-float theme. During Spirit Week, with the theme "Sophomore Circus" and their hall decorated like a Big Top, they sold candy to raise money. With vacation nearing, and the Seniors gone, the class of '79 realized it was one short step to becoming Juniors and much-awaited upperclassmen.

The Freshmen started the year with high hopes and great expectations for the future. Election of class officers Cheryl Hamilton, Beverly Fernandez, Kathy Milojevic, and Jim Cammarata marked the beginning of their high school years.

As the year progressed, the Frosh displayed their spirit by cheering at pep rallies, attending the athletic games, and participating in school activities. Taffy was sold to raise money for the class treasury. Snoopy and Charlie Brown joined the student body in the Freshman hall during spirit week. When basketball homecoming rolled around, Freshmen were on the scene with their float "Trap the River-Rats," and Tammy Dovellos was crowned the first princess of "80."

The Freshmen succeeded in making themselves known and respected by other classes.

We extend our apologies to those Juniors pictured on this page. Due to a mix-up of the identities, we were unable to put these pictures on the Junior pages of this book. At the time the section was sent into the company, these pictures were not available to us.

Please excuse us and thank you for understanding our problem. We are sorry for any inconvenience this may have caused for you.

Thank you

Touchstone of learning and life at Lew Wallace

*****

When I spend time with my friends,
I begin to understand them—

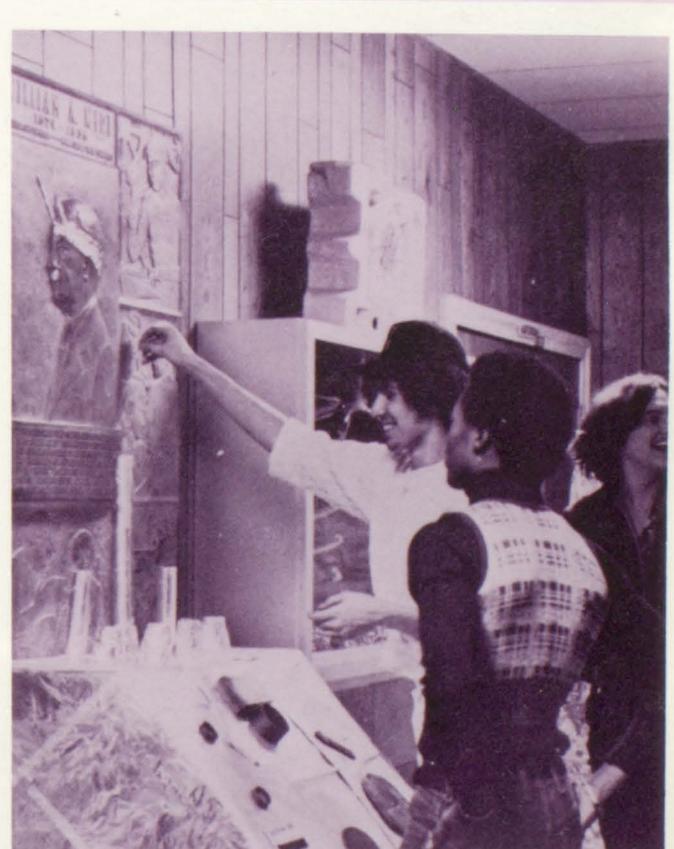

When I spend time with myself,
I begin to understand me.

Sometimes I have so much school spirit—
I want to be involved in everything—

And other times I have so little school spirit—
I don't want to be involved in anything!

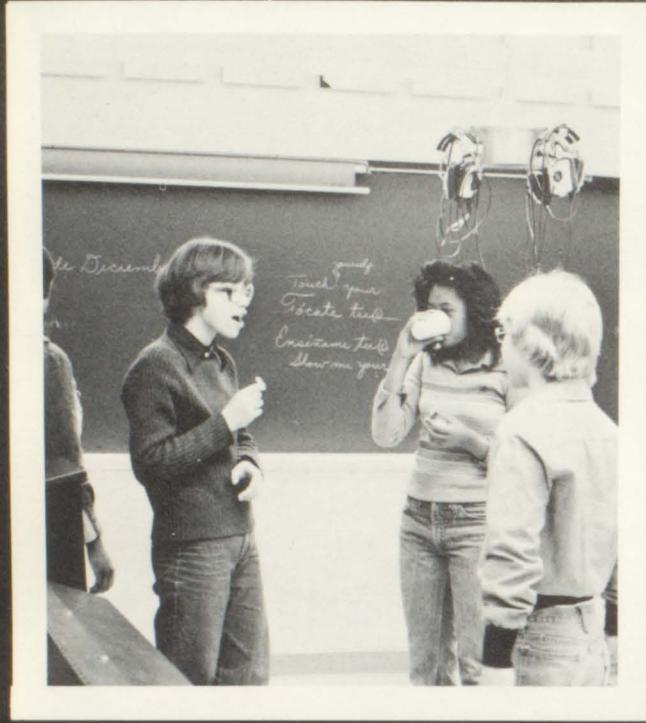

Sports—
A way to express myself.

I like to be serious,
But I like to have fun!

Producing a yearbook involves the time and effort of many people. The QB Staff wishes to thank Mr. George Kingsley Jr. for his encouragement and extra supplies as well as his patience with "unusual" ideas. Thanks also to Mr. John Giolas of Giolas Studio for loping around the city for all those extra pics; to photo teacher Mr. Dave Metz for advice and ideas; to the office staff who field phone calls and forward packages; and to the administration and faculty for putting up with our foibles.

A special thanks also is deserved by Pat Lucas, our customer service rep. in Montgomery who solved problems and eased our path. We also thank Bob and Lou at the plant for their explanations and ideas. A very special thanks to Miss Sarah Munier—our advisor and friend.

The first signature of the 1977 Quill and Blade is printed on 100 lb. Bordeaux Stock, and the remainder on 80 lb. Ermine Special by Herff-Jones Yearbooks of Montgomery, Alabama. Opening and closing subheadlines are set in 18pt. Melior. Copy and captions are 10 and 8pt. Melior with Italics. The end sheet is printed in a special color mix ink on frost paper. The cover, title page, divisions, and other special spreads were hand set with Format Caslon Black Swash. The cover is a debossed design on Cerulean Blue Vibra Tex color material overtoned in black.

This year may be the last year that the Lew Wallace Quill and Blade will be published. QB staffers had a more difficult time selling books this year than ever before. The staff, a few teachers, some patrons, advertisers and less than 700 students, seem to be the only ones interested in keeping this tradition alive. The 1977 Quill and Blade ended up with 256 pages rather than 272 pages along with less spot color than was previously used. The original cover design was modified in order to save money. If more students don't begin supporting the Quill and Blade soon, this book, the 1977 volume, may end the tradition of having an annually published yearbook at Lew Wallace.

Being part of the crowd is important,
just dont forget to be yourself -
And when you do decide to be yourself,

REMEMBER THAT:

"If a man does not keep pace with his companions,
perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer.

Let him step to the music he hears,
however measured or far away."
